1. Simulate participants

We have discussed the possibility to not have the mobile application ready by Tuesday.

Moreover we have discussed how to test the progress of the events simulating the participants.

CONCLUSION: we need to create a script that does the following:

- register a certain amount of users, storing the TOKEN received during registration
- enroll the register users in an event
- when the event starts, the script starts sending position of the participants along the route trying to simulate a realistic race

ACTION: Mariano will take care of it using python
